

HOOVER CALLS 12 GOVERNORS TO CONFERENCE

Federal-State Program Of Relief Is To Be Planned

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—(AP)—President Hoover today called a white house conference of governors of 12 states for next Thursday to map out a broad cooperative federal-state program of relief in the drought-stricken areas of the country.

The conference was called after the president had received a detailed report from Secretary Hyde showing the "critical aspect" of the situation to be in the shortage of animal feed crops in the middle and far north-west and extending east as far as the Atlantic seaboard. No alarm was felt over the nation's food supply.

Mr. Hoover also conferred late in the day with Ernest P. Bicknell, acting chairman of the American Red Cross, and instructed the relief organization officials to stand by to assist in any possible emergency involving human suffering.

"The situation is one to cause a great deal of concern," the president said in a statement to the press, "but must be borne in mind that the drought has mainly affected animal feed, the bulk of the direct human food production of the country being abundantly in hand."

"Nevertheless," he added, "there will be a great deal of privation among families in the drought areas due to the loss of income and the financial difficulties imposed upon them to carry their animals over the winter."

States First Duty

The American people will proudly take care of the necessities of their countrymen in time of stress or difficulty. Our first duty is to assure our countrymen that this will be done, that their courage and spirit shall be maintained, and our second duty is to assure an effective organization for their consumption."

The governors summoned to next week's conference were from Missouri, Arkansas, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia, Virginia, Tennessee, Kansas, Iowa, and Nebraska. Members of the farm board and leading farm organizations representatives also will participate.

The preliminary survey of the agriculture department showed the need.

JUDGE SABATH WILL ATTEMPT TO SOLVE THE BABY MIXUP

Bamberger-Watkins Case Will Come Before Court on Monday

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Superior Judge Joseph Sabath, veteran arbiter in hundreds of domestic disputes, including one of Peggy Hopkins Joyce, will be confronted with something new in domestic tangles Monday when he returns from vacation—namely, the Bamberger-Watkins case.

It will be for Judge Sabath to decide a question which learned scientists and skilled physicians have pondered at length—a question of whether the Charles Bambergers have their own baby or the baby of Mr. and Mrs. William Watkins.

Judge Robert E. Gentry assigned Judge Sabath to this difficult task today when he granted a petition for a writ of habeas corpus to compel Mr. and Mrs. Bamberger to bring into court the infant given them as theirs at the Englewood hospital. He assigned the hearing to Judge Sabath and made the baby returnable Monday, and also granted an injunction restraining the Bambergers from taking the disputed infant out of the court's jurisdiction.

The dispute over the identity of the two babies, one born to the Watkins and one to the Bambergers at the Englewood hospital on June 30, has raged since the Watkins found the baby in their care labeled "Bamberger" and learned that the baby taken home by the Bambergers was labeled "Watkins."

Navy Officials Take Issue With Calvin Coolidge

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Two high officials of the navy department took issue today with a statement of former President Coolidge in his daily syndicate column which said "a navy officer reports that the best (aircraft) engine is made abroad."

Acting Secretary Danneke and Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the bureau of aeronautics of the navy, came to the defense of American engines and praised the work of the navy in their development.

BRITISH USING PLANES AGAINST UNRULY AFGHANS

Believe Communism Is At Bottom of Pres- ent Troubles

PESHAWAR, India, Aug. 8.—(AP)—British troops were in action today against Afridi tribesmen advancing on Peshawar.

The strength of the horde of Afghan warriors was estimated variously at 5,000 to 10,000. The fighting thus far, two advance guard encounters, had not been of a general nature and the casualties were not divulged.

In this city, which is in the path of the attempted invasion, it is believed that only a few on either side have been wounded.

Airplanes continued all day today their bombing and reconnoitering flights over the rocky country in which the hostile tribesmen have concentrated in what is believed to be the greatest number attempting to cross the frontier recently.

Every possible precaution was taken in Peshawar tonight to guard the safety of the residents. The city gates were closed and all permits to leave were cancelled. The populace was warned not to leave shelter.

A defensive line of troops has been formed between the city and the advancing enemy. Heavy detachments are encamped along the fringe of a barren area over which the tribesmen would have to travel in any attempted assault.

Ancient Battlesground

Peshawar and the Khyber Pass have been scenes of much bloody fighting in the past, for even the Mogul emperors of bygone centuries had difficulty in controlling the fanatical warriors of the hills.

For years and years the raiders have found loot in the city and in the Pass. In the autumn Afghan merchants were accustomed to bring caravans from Kabul, Bokhara and Samarkand—rich convoys loaded with silks, precious stones, rugs and other products of the east. Each one was forced to fight or buy its way through and many were obliterated.

The warriors constituting the present menace are said to have been recruited by the Afghan Youth League of the Burhankehl district and the new league of youth of Peshawar, both organizations allegedly having communistic connections.

Far to the southwestward, in the Khyber, the tribesmen have been out again today between Moslems and Hindus, two persons being killed and seven wounded. The trouble was reported to be spreading. About 18 were killed and many injured in similar trouble earlier this week.

The communal rioting began when a Hindu procession attempted to pass a Moslem mosque. Followers of Islam do not like to have Hindus even near their sacred edifices.

ISSUE BENCH WARRANT FOR NEW YORK LAWYER

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 8.—(AP)—A bench warrant was issued today for Herman Shapiro, former attorney for Mrs. Watkins, to return to New York as a witness in her trial on a charge of slaying her husband, Fred Oesterreich, wealthy garment manufacturer, eight years ago.

Shapiro was attorney for Mrs. Oesterreich when she was charged with slaying her husband. He caused reopening of the case with an affidavit accusing Otto Sanhuber, "attorney" of the widow, of slaying Oesterreich.

He appeared as a witness against Sanhuber, who was convicted of manslaughter later freed under the statute of limitations.

HUNTER BROTHERS ARE FLYING THRU WEST

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Three of the Illinois Hunter Brothers landed at the airport here late today in their planes.

The trio in which they established the world's refueling endurance record was piloted by John Hunter. Kenneth Hunter was at the stick of the refueling ship used in the record shattering endurance flight, and Walter Hunter was flying a third plane.

The brothers plan to leave tomorrow for Yankton, S. D.

HEADS COURT CLERKS

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 8.—(AP)—George Brodbeck, of Philadelphia, today was re-elected president of the Federal Court Clerks' association of the United States at the closing session of the ninth annual convention.

Chicago was selected as the 1931 convention city, the convention to be held August 4, 5 and 6.

Other officers elected included S. T. Burnett, Springfield, Ill., vice president.

MUCH OF WEST STILL SUFFERS FROM DROUGHT

Missouri Particularly Hard Hit By Continu- ing Heat

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The heat-scarred western plains lay gasping under 100 degree temperatures again today as the worst drought in years hung steadfast over most of the middle west.

Missouri particularly was suffering from the intensity of the lingering wave, with temperatures over 100 general throughout the state. Experts held out little hope for salvaging the corn and wheat crops now, even if rains should bring relief. It was past 108 in St. Louis at 2 p. m. and 105 at Jefferson City the hottest of the west. Poplar Bluff had 107.

Southern Illinois also remained virtually prostrated by the prolonged drought. Temperatures drying up 100 were common, the blazing sun drying up small streams and wells with monotonous persistence. Centuria reported the temperature at 105½ and it was 106 at Harrisburg.

The blistering heat spilled over into the southwest but was not so intense as the north. Scattered showers had brought some relief. It was generally in the 90's in the Dakotas and Minnesota, and Wisconsin also had milder weather. Milwaukee reporting 90.

Light showers in portions of Iowa had a cooling effect, but came too late to give much benefit to crops, experts said. All of Iowa's corn crop, except in four counties, was considered to be 20 per cent or more below normal.

Clouds sheltered Nebraska from the burning rays, Lincoln reporting 88 and Omaha 87.

Chicago and the lake region enjoyed more or less normal summer weather.

Herrick, Now In Toils, Says "Dishonest" Money Offered

HARRISBURG, Ill., Aug. 8.—(AP)—The official temperature here was 106 degrees at noon today. The average maximum for August this year thus far is 104 degrees. Southeastern Illinois cities are making a survey of their water supplies.

LACROSSE, Wis., Aug. 8.—(AP)—The United States tow boat Thorpe, up-bound pulling four barges of freight, went on a sand bar in the Mississippi just east of LaCrosse.

The river is the lowest in twenty years, veteran skippers said.

HORTON AND HULL MAJORITIES SHOW STEADY INCREASE

Opponent of Governor Will Not Concede Defeat Until Returns are Complete

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Majorities by which Governor Henry H. Horton was nominated for another two years and Representative Cordell Hull given the nomination for United States senator for the six year term beginning next March grew today on the basis of belated unofficial returns from yesterday's biennial Democratic primary.

With returns from 1927 out of 2,251 precincts, Governor Horton had 131,345 votes against 99,339 for his opponent, L. E. Givins. Mr. Givins at his Memphis home declined to concede defeat pending more complete returns. He has charged that Negroes were "herded" to the polls and voted against him in the Democratic primary at the instance of the Shelby county organization, which supported Governor Horton this year.

Hull, on the basis of returns from 1,799 precincts, had a lead of more than 54,000 votes over Andrew L. Todd, Murrensboro capitalist. The returns gave Hull 120,963; Todd 66,328. David W. Dodson, Nashville, received a smaller complimentary vote.

Senator William E. Brock, Chattanooga, won the Democratic nomination for United States senator for the November-to-March short term by an overwhelming majority over Dr. John R. Neal, Knoxville.

C. Arthur Bruce, Memphis, apparent winner of the Republican gubernatorial nomination over Harry T. Burr, Sweetwater, had more than 6,000 votes on the face of unofficial and incomplete returns.

Although returns are incomplete, Representative B. Carroll Reece apparently was renominated to congress in the first district Republican primary. Unofficial returns from 178 out of 249 precincts gave Reece 17,388; Sam R. Price 16,105. J. W. Taylor, Republican, second district easily won the renomination to congress from Judd Acuff, Knoxville.

The Reece-Price contest attracted attention when Reece made public a letter from President Hoover defending his legislative stand against the Norris plan for the operation of Muscle Shoals.

J. R. Mitchell, judge of the fifth Tennessee judicial circuit, was nominated for the Democratic fourth district congressional seat to be vacated by Hull. He defeated E. A. Albright and J. P. Owen, and has no Republican opposition.

100 AT JOHNSTON CITY

JOHNSTON CITY, Ill., Aug. 8.—(AP)—The temperature reached 110 degrees here this afternoon, within two degrees of the high record for the summer.

John Jobbs, a chicken raiser, reported today that a setting hen departed her nest because of the heat. "The hen looked too far ahead to be definite," he said, "and the appearance of a high pressure area in northwest Canada. Such a condition, the bureau said, is ordinarily the forerunner of precipitation on this side the international line."

Governor Emmerson States Views On Plan For Aiding Drought-Stricken Farmers

From Far And Near

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Asserting that drought damage to Illinois crops had been tremendous, Gov. Louis L. Emmerson today expressed belief that the state's most effective relief measure would be provision of work to idle farmers over until they began getting a living income again from their farms.

The governor also suggested that the federal government could help by arranging to defer interest payments on loans to agriculturists.

"I have asked various state and local officials to push forward every possible building or highway construction project that can be done this year," he told the Associated Press. "Probably we shall find other relief measures, but building work seems to me the most general and most effective. The farmers are going to need a great deal of help."

"Everything south of Springfield—cornfields, pastures, truck gardens—is burned up. I drove south the other day and it looked like November in the fields and I am told that the crops north to the state line, which had stood up pretty well through the early weeks of drought, have been badly affected in the last few days."

"So far Illinois has made no definite plans for relief, but a survey of the burned areas and the extent of the damage is in progress. With that information available, we can go ahead with plans."

IN NOT TAKING CASH BELIEVES MADE AN ERROR

Herrick, Now In Toils, Says "Dishonest" Money Offered

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Manner Herrick, former Oklahoma congressman in jail here for his arrest while working at a still as handyman at $15 a week, observed today that he had made a mistake in not taking some of the money he said was offered him during his one term as legislator.

"When I was in congress," he said, "I had as much as $50,000 in bills stacked on my desk—dishonest money, but I said to them, 'take it away! Maybe I, unshaven, and clad in overalls, Herrick, 54, would not elaborate on the "dishonest money." He stuck to his story that he took the job at the still, which he was captured Wednesday along with two other men, to give evidence to be turned over to prohibition officials.

Federal officials, however, went ahead with plans to prosecute him on a charge of manufacturing liquor. In jail in default of $1,500 bond, Herrick faces the prospect of remaining there for several weeks until the grand jury acts.

The Oklahoma man, spectacular figure in congress during his one term, ending in 1923, little resembled the legislator who while in office was sued for $50,000 for breach of promise by a beauty contest entrant, and was in the public eye also for his interest in aviation.

Herrick declared he thought he had a definite understanding that he was to get evidence for the prohibition bureau at Washington, though word from the capitol was he was given a commission and warned not to incriminate himself.

CORN PRICES TAKE TUMBLE ON BELIEF OF WEATHER CHANGE

Is Long Look Ahead But Suf- ficient to Affect Market Conditions

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The drought continues, but a long look ahead gave hope that it might end within a week and with that hope corn took a heading plunge today.

December corn dropped 7½ cents from the early high price and touched 21 cents, but recovered partially and at the close corn ranged from 1½ to 2 cents lower than yesterday.

The convulsive movement of corn was reflected in wheat, but that grain, which had been bid up like corn as much as 3 cents a bushel in the early trading, showed more strength and held its ground. Its position at the end of the day was from 4 cent lower to 1 cent higher than yesterday.

September wheat finished at 96½ to 97½ and December at $1.02 to $1.02½, while corn was a bit higher, September at 97½ to 98 cents and December 94 to 94½.

Domestic markets had started upward on the example of Liverpool, and advices from the Canadian northwest fortified the stand of the bulls. Rust damage to wheat there was confirmed and estimates of the probable Canadian crop continued to dwindle. The benefits of showers in the domestic corn belt were minimized, too.

The early advances were wiped out, however, after the prediction was made by weather bureau at Washington that rain might come across the border by next midweek. The prophecy, looking too far ahead to be definite, was predicated on the appearance of a high pressure area in northwest Canada. Such a condition, the bureau said, is ordinarily the forerunner of precipitation on this side the international line."

SEVEN MINERS KILLED BY A FALL OF TOP

Sixteen Other Mem- bers Of Gang Report- ed Injured

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Seven miners were killed and 16 injured today by a fall of top at the Gilbertson Colliery of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company. Three of the injured men were in a serious condition at a hospital.

Company officials said their check showed only 23 men were in the gang. Thirteen of them needed only first aid treatment when taken from the slopes.

The Gilbertson colliery, ten miles from Pottsville, has been closed since May and the men were placing new rails in the slope when top rock became loose and fell about 50 feet. The rock carried with it tons of dirt, timber and other debris, burying the workers.

Rescue workers from nearby collieries went in to dig out the men. Five of them were found alive a little more than an hour after the accident.

The accident occurred on the third level about 1,800 feet underground. The company gave out this list of dead:

Anthony Strucka, Shenandoah, 49. William Burke, Matzeville, 44. Matthew Koker, Matzeville, 29. Charles Yonches, 42, Gilbertson. Patrick Birmingham, 46, Gilbertson. Joseph Comerowski, 20, Turkey Run. Michale Mallick, Frackville.

MRS. LAURA NELSON IS QUESTIONED BY CHICAGO POLICE

Says Call She Received From Zuta Was About West Side Building

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Mrs. Laura Nelson, who is said by police to have received a telephone call from Jack Zuta a short time before the vice leader was slain in a lake resort near Delafield, Wisconsin, a week ago, surrendered to authorities today.

Police learned the day after the killing that Zuta had telephoned to the apartment occupied by Mrs. Nelson in Chicago, but the detective who questioned her was convinced she was merely an acquaintance. Detective Chief John Norton was not satisfied and sent officers back to interrogate the woman further, but she had fled. She has been missing since.

When she surrendered today to Patrick Roche, chief investigator for State's Attorney Swanson, she was accompanied by a man giving his name as William Nelson and saying he was Mrs. Nelson's husband.

The couple said they and relatives were in the construction business and that their only interest in Zuta was in getting the contract for tearing down a building which Zuta owned on the West Side. They said they had not seen the slain gangster for a month prior to his death.

Other developments in the Zuta inquiry came from Wisconsin and included the obtaining of a John Doe murder warrant by State's Attorney Herman Salen of Waushara county from Municipal Judge John Evans of Oconomowoc, the fruitless raid of a cottage on Tomahawk Lake, Wis., where police had been informed, Zuta's slayers would be found; and the reported statement of Tony Scaler, former partner of Zuta's, that Zuta had "often complained about Jake Lingle," assassinated Chicago Tribune reporter.

Scaler's purported statement, unconfirmed by Salen to whom it was understood to have been made, strengthened a growing belief among investigators that the Lingle and Zuta killings were related—the latter crime either as retaliation or to seal the gangster's lips.

Waushara, Wis., Aug. 8.—(AP)—District Attorney Herman Salen tonight said he considered Mrs. Laura Nelson, who surrendered to Chicago police, or some other occupant of her Chicago apartment, a vital witness in the slaying of Jake Zuta, Moran "mob" leader, killed by five men in a dance hall near Delafield, Wis.

Salen said he had records of between 10 and 15 telephone calls made to some person at Mrs. Nelson's number—from Delafield and nearby by a man believed to have been Zuta. He said he was convinced Zuta, called that number a half hour before he met death last Friday night from machine gun bullets and shotgun slugs.

A man in Hartland, Wis., eight miles from the scene of the slaying, called that number, Salen said, about an hour before the killing.

AURORA DOES WANT BEER RUNNERS IN CITY

AURORA, Ill., Aug. 8.—(AP)—The Aurora city council was asked today to keep Chicago's beer runners—Frankie Lake and Terry Druggan—from entering the milk business in this city.

The request was made by Harry Cochran, secretary of the Aurora Pure Milk association, who asked an ordinance forbidding any more distributors of milk from operating here.

The council indicated it didn't see how it could keep Druggan and Lake from peddling milk instead of beer if they wanted to, but said it would see what could be done.

Paris, Ill., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Fire caused damage estimated at $10,000 to the Cummings Car and Coach company factory today. The blaze started in the boiler room at noon.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—(AP)—A murder charge was filed today against Frank Dorch, Negro, after the death of Clifford Davis, Negro, who Dorch shot last night. Dorch said he fired in self defense.

TO WED IN PLANE

Nokomis, Ill., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Miss Marian Robertson of this city will be married Sunday afternoon to Wilson E. Brigel of Springfield in an airplane one thousand feet above Springfield. County Judge Oramel B. Irwin will perform the ceremony.

CHARGES FILED

Wisconsin Man Never Heard Of Col. Lindbergh

SUPERIOR, Wis., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Found, the man who never heard of Lindbergh.

Known only by the nickname of "Fencecovich," he lives alone in a Woodland shack near Ashland. A correspondent of the Superior Telegram happened on him, and the aged man shook his head in wonder at the Lindbergh story.

"Never heard of him," he said. He has lived in northern Wisconsin since 1914.

LINDBERGH IN FIRST FORMAL RADIO SPEECH

Appears Calm; Storm Prevents Distance As Planned

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Storms at sea, which could not keep Col. Charles A. Lindbergh from accomplishing his famous flight across the ocean, today prevented his voice from making a trans-Atlantic journey thru the air.

Just as he was ready to send his words on a long voyage than he or any other man has ever made in a plane, a terrific electrical storm broke over the Atlantic and the most ambitious arrangements ever made for a world broadcast all went for naught. It was his first formal radio address and it was to have been heard in the far corners of the globe.

Luckily, Col. Lindbergh knew nothing of the sudden opposition of the atmosphere and so was not aware until it was all over that his words had not reached their goal.

"Are you nervous?" someone asked in the little room at the studios of just before the flying colonel began to speak.

He looked briefly about the sound proof cubicle; the two cylindrical microphones on their high pedestals, the officials huddled in a corner, his wife quietly smiling from a wicker chair. The voice testers going thru their preparatory litany: "One, two, one, two, one, two."

"Why should I be nervous about going on the air?" asked the man to whom the air is home.

Fortunately two separate broadcasts of the Lindbergh speech had been arranged. The first, the one the storm destroyed, was a short wave broadcast intended purely for other lands. This was at 3:30 p. m. E. S. T. The other, at 10 o'clock, was for domestic listeners, and also was carried by short wave. So that if disappointed listeners on other continents cared to stay up until the small hours of the morning they could get another chance to hear.

In his address, which took just eight minutes to deliver, Col. Lindbergh spoke on the close alliance between developments of transportation and the general improvement of civilization.

"If we accept the principle," he said, "that life today is preferable to that of ancient times then it is logical to assume that any future improvement in transportation will result in a corresponding advance in methods of living."

He spoke of the great continental air systems of today and predicted that within a few years trans-oceanic lines would link these into a world-wide network. In closing he urged the necessity of internationally uniform air regulations so that the intercontinental fliers of the future should not be impeded by national restrictions.

Col. Lindbergh seemed perfectly calm while he was talking before the twin microphones.

AMARILLO LAWYER CONFESSES MURDER; ASKS QUICK DEATH

Says He Is Not Insane and Pleads for Immediate Death in Chair

STINNET, Texas, Aug. 8.—(AP)—A. L. Payne, Amarillo lawyer, tonight pleaded guilty to slaying a man for the wife of his wife and maiming his 9-year-old son with a dynamite bomb in the family motor car June 27, his 63 page confession signed and in the hands of authorities.

He pleaded that the punishment, preferably death in the electric chair, expedited. He had renounced insanity in making his confession.

"No sir," he said, "I am not insane. I am just abnormal. I knew I was committing murder and am not trying to dodge the penalty now."

Edward W. Thomerson, district attorney, tonight said the case probably would be presented to a grand jury to convene Aug. 25.

Payne detailed a series of plots covering eighteen months to kill his wife so he would not learn he was "the meanest man on earth," said he was not sorry for the murder. He said he feared Mrs. Payne would learn of his financial losses and his relations with Verona Thomerson, his stenographer.

"If I had it to do over," he said, "I would do the same thing again."

MIDSHIPMAN SUICIDES
Pana, Ill., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Word was received here today of the suicide of Midshipman Lloyd Snell, 21, son of Mrs. Myrtle Shellenbarger of Chicago formerly of Towell, near here by leaping overboard from a United States cruiser in Pacific waters near San Francisco.

Snell enlisted in the navy three years ago and his term of service would have expired in a few months, day.

DROUGHT REPORT MADE PUBLIC BY SECRETARY HYDE

Covers Conditions In Severely Affected Sections

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—(AP)—President Hoover today made public a report from Secretary Hyde summarizing drought conditions in the most severely affected sections of the country. The report follows in part:

The Human Food Supply

"Considered in its broader aspects 1930 does not present a serious problem of food supply for the nation. The winter wheat crop already harvested is ample. The spring wheat crop, while it has undoubtedly deteriorated perhaps as much as 10 per cent during the month of July, should still be nearly equal to domestic food requirements. While the crop of potatoes in the intermediate states is not large, the yield in commercial sections of the northern states gives promise of a fair to good yield."

"The crop of canning peas has already been harvested, and was produced north of the drought area xxx. "Fruit crops are not large, but are not small enough to constitute a shortage, particularly since the California and other Pacific state fruit crops give good promise. In the drought area, the near failure of farm gardens and other crops grown for home food supply for the fall months and winter is causing want and hardship to many individuals."

"The critical aspect of the drought situation lies in the inadequate production of feed for livestock in certain areas of the country. For the United States the outlook late in July points to a production of about 90 per cent of an average crop of the feed grains—corn, oats, barley, and grain sorghum; about 85 per cent of an average production of hay; or a combined feed production of approximately 88 per cent."

"For the country as a whole prospective feed supply at this date considered by itself does not appear to be particularly alarming, but is critical in certain areas."

Probable Feed Production in 1930

"Two sections of the country will apparently have only about 60 per cent of an average production if weather conditions should be average subsequent to August 1. These are a part of Montana, and a segment paralleling the Ohio river from Pennsylvania to its junction with the Mississippi, and on down the Mississippi to the gulf. A somewhat wider band on either side of this segment apparently will have from 60 to 80 per cent of an average production. The balance of the country apparently will fall within the range of 80 to 100 per cent."

NATIONALISTS IN CHINA HAVE CASE MUTINY IN RANKS

Disloyal Promptly Disarmed But Morale Weakened; Situation Critical

HANKOW, Aug. 8.—(AP)—A blow from within—mutiny of a portion of the Hankow garrison—struck the nationalist government tonight as preparations were rushed to defend the city against an expected attack of converging communist bands.

The mutineers including the commander's body guard, were promptly disarmed but the defending force was weakened and the situation was considered critical. Strict military discipline prevailed as guards patrolled streets and walked their beats in front of public utilities, communication offices and public buildings.

Meanwhile, the influx of Chinese from the countryside continued in Hankow as well as its sister cities of Wuchang, and HanYang, also under communist threat. The foreign districts of the three cities were crowded. Foreign warships stood by in the Yangtze river to protect their nationals.

Military authorities captured two reds in the plant of the Hankow Light and Power company, disrupting what they said was a communist plot to seize the plant and throw the city into darkness. An attempt to disable telephone service also was frustrated.

A red threat to enter Hankow unless $100,000 Mexican was paid communist agents was received by the local branch of the American National City Bank.

From other sections came reports of communist activity, especially in southeast Hupeh Province where Tayen, important iron mining center was captured. Unconfirmed reports in Hunan province had failed to reach Chinese banks in Kiangsi Province closed on receipt of approach of communist raids.</

Just to live things up a little, we wish Will and Cal would sign each other's stuff for a few days.

The foreign loan market, anyway, continues good. Almost any foreign country is willing to borrow enough from us to pay what it owes us.

The Mason News is right—what this country needs is a good five-cent tip. We've always maintained that the tipping evil should be fought with no quarter.

ADMIRAL OF THE MISSISSIPPI
Gov. Sampson of Kentucky probably didn't realize what he was starting when appointing Rear Admiral Byrd to his official staff. He conferred on him the rank of "Admiral of the Mississippi River."

The title seems a little peculiar. It is hard to see just what Admiral Byrd or the State of Kentucky has to do with the Mississippi. If Byrd were named Admiral of the Ohio or the Potomac, there would be a certain appropriateness to it. Still it's a grand title, and one which may have many repetitions.

We have always been shy of titles of nobility in this country, and so have to resort to fraternal orders to indulge the natural human propensity for this weakness. Gov. Sampson shows a way out of the difficulty. We can have admirals and generals and lords and knights. What of Heaven knows where, all over this broad land of freedom and equality.

Thus worth may be adequately rewarded in finer coin than money. Thus states, cities, mountains, rivers, lakes, plains, and deserts may gain new fame. Thus we may rise and shine without joining secret societies. And thus, as we progressively disarm, we shall still have plenty of admirals.

THE SOCIAL INSTINCT
One of man's evolutionary traits is his social instinct or gregariousness. Few human traits are more highly developed and none is more patent. There is an attraction between men that is not to be denied.

It is not strange that a physician testifying in a hearing to determine the sanity of a woman declared her insane because she refused herself the companionship of others. On the contrary, the community has no doubts about the insanity of every recluse. In the days of witchcraft those who lacked the social instinct were in danger of the stake. The mad house receives many of them today.

The brotherhood of man is always prevalent, but is never more pronounced than among those from back home or with those having something in common.

If you have ever taken a motor trip into a "foreign" state you have noticed the hand-waving neighborliness displayed between the passengers of cars having license plates of the home state. The fleeting greeting could be no warmer between two neighbors or long-parted friends.

There are times when the individual tics of society when friends betray and human competition becomes keen and everything is left behind for a sojourn in the wilds away from all mankind. It happens many times a day, especially when the weather becomes as hot as the social contact, but just as often loneliness drives the disgusted-with-humanity into the seclusion of a room, the company of other men and women.

Between society and the solitary life man accepts the former as the more perfect of two imperfect conditions.

BRAINS
Time was when it was maintained that the reason women were mentally inferior to men was because women's brains weighed less than men's. In this way we once accounted for a good many of women's alleged shortcomings. Whatever we did not understand and could not explain in any other way was accounted for by a shortage of weight in her brains.

Today there are many people who believe that at least at school age girls are cleverer than boys. There may be very complex reasons for this, but the scientist could reveal it if he cared to; but a much shorter way out of the difficulty has been found by a woman phenologist who rejects the complicated proof in favor of something much simpler.

She maintains that up to a certain age girls are brighter than boys because the girls' head grows more than the boys'. More particularly is it the breadth of the head that counts. We are told that girls are apt to be round headed and boys long headed. This so-called expert consoles the boys, however, with the information that later on in life boys' heads begin to widen.

Further investigation may find more convincing proof for this conclusion.

tion than it has now. Or we may have to do what we did in the case of the belief in the weight of the brain—discard it altogether. Until such time comes, however, there is one thing which all the owners of heads will do well to remember.

The proper development of the intellect is more important to make good use of one's brains, than to rely for success on their weight or on the size or shape of the head.

UNPOPULAR "REPRISALS"
European governments are again taking of a quota system to restrict the importation of American automobiles for the protection of their domestic producers of motor cars. The scheme probably will not go through for the same reason that it was abandoned a year ago.

If Europe were to limit the importation of American cars, it would be in the face of stiff opposition from the people there. Europeans buy American cars and pay higher prices for them than for the domestic product because the imported automobiles are of a more satisfactory quality. The situation is an embarrassing one for the European governments. They concede the right of their producers and labor to protection against ruinous American competition, but cannot deny the right of their people to the best car obtainable irrespective of its origin.

If Europe were producing cars as satisfactory as the American products, it might be possible to impose restrictions limiting the importation of the latter. If Europe had been able to produce motion pictures as popular as the Hollywood films, the various restrictive schemes for the protection of the domestic industry might have been practicable.

No boycott or embargo can succeed when the forbidden product is superior to the protected one. Depriving the people of something they want more than something else is too unpopular a program for any government to undertake.

INTUITION STILL AHEAD
While it may still be true that weeping will not save us from disaster, the moral standpoint, tears are great life-savers in the physical sense, according to a London doctor, who claims to have discovered the tear has marvelous power as a germ slayer.

Womanish tears, so long derided by men, have now been vindicated, and along with them the intuitive powers of women. For women always knew it was the proper thing to cry on certain occasions, although they were unable to give a reason for their tears, which just would begin to flow when the unexpected times. Women have always known intuitively when tears were needed, and so shed them, thus keeping able to endure trials at which strong men would quail.

So also the crying of the baby is not the proper thing. True, in recent years doctors have advised mothers to let the baby cry occasionally, as it developed its lungs. But now we know it also serves to destroy germs, and the baby shows an uncanny knowledge of the use of tears by shedding them at the approach of undesirable relatives and friends.

ROBERT QUILLEN SAYS

My dear Louise:
It is the immortal privilege of your sex to change its mind, but I think you can save yourself considerable heart-ache in years to come if you will learn to "make up your mind" a little more slowly.

Every week or so I hear that you have met some stranger—boy or girl, man or woman—who is "wonderful" or "perfectly adorable" or something of that kind, and then a week or two later I hear that the gold has begun to tarnish.

The flawless one who appeared to be so much finer than your ordinary acquaintances has turned out to be a mere human and you are keenly disappointed.

The fault, however, is not in the stranger. The fault is in you. It's the kind of fault born in people—like a mean temper or a cheerful disposition—but it is one you can overcome by using a little bay-horse common sense.

The trouble with you is too much imagination and a disposition to expect too much of men.

When you meet a stranger who is at all presentable, you forget that he is on his good behavior and at once endow him with all the virtues. At last you have found somebody in whom there is no fault.

It is very complimentary, but it is also very unfair. Nobody could measure up to the perfection you imagine in people you don't know very well. And because you expect too much, it follows inevitably that you judge too harshly when you find out how badly you were fooled.

A safer and saner way is to begin by assuming that all people are much alike—strangers much like your intimate friends except that they are hiding their faults to make a good impression.

If you will remember that and learn to suspend judgment until all the evidence is in, you won't fall quite so hard, as you express it, when you meet ordinary people aglow with their company manners, and then you won't have so many disappointments to swallow when the shine wears off.

Looking on the bright side isn't a bad fault, but bread and butter tastes much better if you weren't expecting cake.

Love,
Dad.

BITING THE BIT

All of us need some sort of a prod to keep from looking down too much or from side-stepping real tasks ahead of us that should be performed by us alone.

I have always looked upon the bit in a horse's mouth as a mild form of cruelty, and yet I have admired that animal when it seemed to say to itself that it would take that bit in its teeth and do the job of its master anyway.

The story is told of Stevenson that when he began his "Kidnapped" he had no idea it would turn out the way it did. He says, himself, that his characters "took the bit in their teeth," and went through with the story in their own way. "I began it," says Stevenson, "partly as a lark, partly as a pot-boiler, and suddenly I moved. David and Alan stepped out from the canvas and I found I was in another world!"

And we, who have read "Kidnapped," found that we were in another world, too, as we read it.

Probably we would never have heard of Newton, and he would never have been the "Sir Isaac" so familiar to us, had he not one day been taking a nap, and a tired apple fallen upon him—to make him think. The story is, that then and there he evolved his theory of gravitation. I can imagine him lying out there in the shade saying to himself: "I'll master this mystery!"

We need something, every once in a while, to jar us, to wake us up, to make us bite the bit and determine to do something unusual and useful.

When a man is "floored," he does ten times the thinking he does when he is on his feet. It isn't natural for him to be down there, and so he takes command of himself in a way he would not were all things running smoothly and happily.

I have always liked to have people tell me I couldn't do a certain thing that I have thought about doing. That makes me do it! Or else wrench something in the attempt!

People never know the limits of their abilities until they have had grand tests made. This biting of the bit is a glorious idea for us all.

Extensive improvements are being made in Calvary cemetery, according to a statement made today by Rev. Father F. F. Formaz, Contractor W. D. Lonergan is in charge of the work. It is already well under way.

Some thousand loads of dirt are to be used in filling in and leveling the cemetery grounds. Ten trucks are engaged in hauling the dirt from the brook area, removing a portion of the material being dredged from the brook for the south side improvement. It will require four days for the trucks to move the large quantity of earth required in the cemetery.

The grounds are being graded and sodded. A new drive is also to be constructed through the cemetery. When the entire work is finished, the Calvary cemetery will be an attractive and beautiful spot.

CONDITIONS ALONG BROOK NOT ALARMING DECLARES HEALTH HEAD

Bad sewage conditions along the brook caused by the construction work now in progress are undesirable, but only temporary, according to a very complete report made to Dr. Edward Bowe by the State Department of Health thru its director, Dr. Andy Hall. The report calls attention to the fact that the brook has been carrying open sewage for several years, and that the present improvement is being made to relieve that condition. It is also pointed out that malaria, which there has been complaint, has increased this year thruout Illinois. The report in full follows:

Dr. Edward Bowe, Jacksonville, Ill. Dear Doctor Bowe: On his investigation, July 28, of your reported nuisances and insanitary conditions caused by the construction of the Town Brook sewerage project and Chief Engineer Harry F. Ferguson has reported on his investigation, August 5, which was made in accordance with your telephone request of that morning.

This department has received no other complaints other than from you and therefore we are addressing this letter to you with a copy to the mayor and council, who are handling the sewerage project for the city, and a copy to the local health department and a copy to the Caldwell Engineering Inc. company, who are supervising the construction work for the city. It is our understanding that some other persons have complained to you and therefore we assume that you will bring this letter to their attention.

According to the records of this department the object of the Town Brook sewerage project is to relieve existing overloaded sewers, avoid the pollution of Town Brook by frequent overflow of sewage into that brook during even moderate rains and to abate the pollution of the south branch and main branch of the Maudslayi Creek. For many years Town Brook has been polluted by sewage, especially in its lower portion, and inspections have been made by State sanitary engineers of such polluted conditions. Therefore, the carrying out of this Town Brook sewerage will very materially improve sanitary conditions in the vicinity of Town Brook and will provide better sewerage facilities and abate the pollution of Maudslayi Creek.

From the standpoint of service and the permanent abatement of the pollution of Town Brook it was advisable to complete the construction of the Town Brook improvement just as soon as possible after a sewerage system had been installed. Therefore, it was necessary to carry on the construction work at several places at the same time. Investigations showed that the contractor had more than the usual amount of equipment on the ground for construction work of that kind and magnitude which would indicate good construction procedure.

The construction work has been more difficult than would have been the case if no sewers had previously been installed in that portion of Jacksonville. Ditches had to be constructed for the new sewers and Town Brook had to be rechanneled. Naturally it was necessary to cut into the old existing sewers and this permitted sewage to escape and collect in the ditches until connections could be made to the new Town Brook outlet sewer. If construction had started at the lower end of the branch only and proceeded upstream there would have been only one place at which sewage would have been exposed at a time but such procedure would have made the work last over more than one construction season and the net results as regards total nuisances and insanitary conditions would have been as great if not greater than by following the procedure that has been used by the contractor and the city.

The completion of the lower end of the Town Brook channelization before the Burlington Railroad had connected the new culverts under their tracks has permitted sewage-polluted waters to impound slightly upstream from the Burlington Railroad embankments. Construction under railroad tracks that are in regular service is rather important and serious and generally has to be done by the railroad unless the city or other parties desiring the work to be done assume the responsibility for any interference to travel, damage to tracks and even derailments. It is a wise procedure for the city to arrange with the Burlington Railroad for the construction of the culverts under the Burlington tracks even though such procedure may have delayed slightly the construction of the culverts. At any event, sewage-polluted waters have always been present during the past few years in the lower portion of Town Brook near the Burlington tracks and therefore, though the presence of sewage-polluted waters in a permanent condition, the channeled Town Brook is not the conditions now are not more dangerous to health than conditions have been for considerable years previously.

The cutting of sewers and the pooling of sewage and sewage-polluted waters in man-made ditches have undoubtedly caused some odors and it would not be desirable to have such conditions exist permanently. However, as previously stated, Town Brook has carried sewage-polluted waters and has had pools of such sewage-polluted water in it for several years and thus, though the amount of sewage exposed and the odors may have been and may still be somewhat greater than normal nevertheless such is more or less unavoidable and the conditions are only temporary.

Odors from sewage will not cause specific illness even though they are unpleasant, the city officials as well as the nearby property owners will undoubtedly be glad when the sewerage project has been completed and the sources of odors of that kind removed.

No Official Advice The local health department has not advised that there has been any illness caused by odors or gases escaping from the exposed sewage and the mortality reports from this department do not show any increase in illness. Relative to the spreading of malaria as a result of the sewage-polluted ditches, we advise that the Anopheles mosquitoes which spread malaria do not breed in sewage-polluted waters. The portions of Town Brook and Maudslayi Creek above points of sewage pollution would serve as breeding places for the mosquitoes capable of spreading malaria and the sewage-polluted waters downstream would inhibit the breeding of such mosquitoes. The Culex mosquito which causes a more annoying bite than the Anopheles mosquito will breed more abundantly in sewage-polluted waters than in comparatively clean water but the Culex mosquito does not spread malaria.

Malaria was much more prevalent in Illinois than for several previous years and is even more prevalent in Illinois this year than last year; this is true for northern Illinois as well as southern and central Illinois. Malaria is a reportable disease and the morbidity reports to this department do indicate that a continuation of the high malaria rate this year compared to other municipalities of corresponding size. As a matter of fact, the morbidity rate for Jacksonville is lower than for Springfield where there has been no exposed sewage-polluted work at Springfield was completed a few years ago and eliminated such places.

In conclusion we would state that although the exposure of sewage necessitated by cutting some of the old sewers has undoubtedly caused some odor nuisances, insanitary conditions were and are largely unavoidable and the morbidity reports to this department nor information obtained during the field investigations do not indicate that the conditions of which complaint has been made has affected public health. A continuation of the former pollution of Town Brook and the present temporary pollution of the construction ditches would be undesirable and to a certain extent would threaten public health and public welfare and therefore, it is fortunate that the contractor and the city have proceeded to carry on the construction work at several points and hasten the final completion of the Town Brook sewerage project.

We trust that you will make the contents of this letter known to those persons who may have complained to you, possibly on the basis of misunderstandings, so that they will not continue to be unduly alarmed as to the conditions and will better appreciate the final results that will be obtained by the sewerage improvement and the rapid progress that the city has made towards the completion of the entire work.

Very truly yours,
ANDY HALL, M.D.

ROBERT ELLIS WEDS MISS GRACE HOLT OF BLOOMINGTON FRIDAY

Leave on Trip to Grand Canyon; to Reside in This City

A charming home wedding performed before a company of thirty guests united in marriage yesterday afternoon Miss Grace Holt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Holt of Bloomington, Illinois and Robert Ellis of this city, the son of Mrs. G. H. Ellis of Iola, Kansas. Dr. Harry McPherson of the First M. E. church in Springfield read the double ring ceremony at three o'clock in the home of the bride's parents at Bloomington.

The rooms of the Holt residence had achieved a fitting atmosphere for the wedding in the use of Queen Anne's lace and snow-on-the-mountain which created an effective combination of green and white in floral decorations. Forming the bridal party which stood before this attractive background were Miss Florence Ellis of Kansas City, Missouri, maid of honor, Misses Hildred Peters and Frances Frison of Bloomington, bridesmaids; Fred Holt, brother of the bride, best man; A. J. Davis Jr., of Springfield, attendant to Mr. Ellis and the bride and groom.

Mr. Ellis was dressed in white, lovely hose and slippers matching her dress of this bridal shade. Her bouquet was arranged to most effectively harmonize with the dress.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis left on a trip to the Grand Canyon following the service and planned to spend a period of three weeks in this part of the states, so rich in beauties of nature. They will stop on their journey west.

By John L. Cooley
Associated Press Financial Writer
NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The drizzle of liquidation that had been coming into the stock market this week suddenly swelled into a flood today, sweeping away most of the remnants of the July rally.

The price index of 90 leading shares dropped 62 points, the largest drop since mid-June when the market was approaching the bottom of the early summer decline. At the close, the composite index stood at 158.5, the lowest since July 9 when it was 160.9, the year's low is 154.

Losses ranged from 2 to 9 points in popular investment stocks, although there was the usual number of more severe declines in erratic shares. Support was meager and the bear faction, which supplied the impetus for the break, failed to cover, leaving final prices the lowest of the day.

Trading increased substantially, totaling slightly more than 3,300,000 shares, of which 900,000 shares changed hands in the last hour when the liquidation was at its height.

U. S. Steel, which on Tuesday sold as high as 170, came under several pressures. The bears, deciding that unfavorable operating figures constituted news well suited to their cause, offered the stock freely on the theory that a break below previous resistance points would open up the remainder of the market. With only minor interruptions, Steel slumped to 160, where it closed for a net loss of 54.

American Can was one of the weakest issues, tumbling 9 points under liquidation based on the assumption that the drought would curtail the demand for its product. Officials of the company said it was too early to gauge the effect on the fruit and vegetable can and that operations so far were being maintained at recent schedules.

American Telephone was another bear target, dropping 8 points to 202.2, its year's low of 200.4. Air Products, Allied Chemical, Auto Radiator, Chrysler, General Electric, Underwood-Elliott-Fisher, United Aircraft, Diamond Match, American Foreign Power and Electric Power and Light lost 6 points, Westinghouse Electric, American Tobacco B. & Stone, Kodak, Houston Oil and Petroleum, 6 to more than 8, and General Motors, 5 to 6. Bethlehem Steel, Gillette, Johns-Manville, Standard Oil of New Jersey, North American, Consolidated Gas and A. M. Byers 2 to nearly 5. The largest loss was in J. I. Case, off 17, Vanadium and Worthington Pump broke 13.

Warner Brothers Pictures, whose directors omitted the quarterly dividend, closed off 61 at 281, a new low. Southern Railway, Trans-America, Rock Island, Louisville and Nashville and Corn Products also made new lows.

Condition of Pasture in 1930

"In interpolation of the condition of pasture upon which the livestock are normally dependent for a considerable portion of their feed during the summer months, was made in a manner similar to that made for feed grains and hay. The interpolation for August was consolidated with the reported condition figures for June 1 and July 1 to arrive at a composite of pasture conditions for the two-month period of June and July xxx.

Livestock Numbers in 1930
xxx It is noted that for the United States the numbers of livestock for 1930 are approximately 5 per cent below average xxx.

In the central corn belt, from Ohio to Missouri, livestock numbers are approximately 8 per cent below average, due largely to a decrease in hog numbers.

"Elsewhere livestock numbers are below average by a small percentage except in isolated cases. The Relation of Livestock Numbers to Prospective Production and Pasture

"The coincidence of relatively high livestock numbers and low feed production in the Montana-Wyoming area and in some of the middle Atlantic states indicates the probability of some liquidation of sheep and cattle in the former area and dairy cattle in the latter.

"The extremely low probable feed production coinciding with only moderate declines in livestock numbers in the Ohio-Mississippi river valley drouth area, indicates the probability of districts marketing which will probably take the form of culling dairy herds and sheep flocks and the early marketing of hogs, accompanied by the failure to take the usual numbers of stocker and feeder cattle.

Comments by States
"Indiana. The more northern counties of the drouth-stricken area in Indiana are fairly important in the production of hogs, and dairy cattle. There are no important stock producing areas in the case of Ohio a considerable number of farmers are engaged in other pursuits and depend upon home gardens and other food crops for some of their living.

"Illinois. The portion of Illinois covered by the drouth is not an important livestock-producing region. A considerable number of persons listed as farmers secure part of their livelihood from coal-mining and other similar occupations but are also dependent to some extent for food supplies upon home gardens and similar crops xxx.

"Missouri. The drouth area in Missouri covers a larger area of diversified farming than in any other state. It embraces areas important in the production of wheat and corn, the production of dairy cattle, beef cattle and hogs, and in the finishing of feeder cattle for the market. In the southeastern part of the state where cotton is an important crop, there is still opportunity for farmers to realize some income from that crop xxx.

"A large number of telegrams have been sent to extension directors, field representatives of the bureau of animal industry, and representatives of livestock shipping associations to secure additional information concerning the situation in various areas, particularly with reference to the supply of feed for livestock and the probabilities of forced liquidation of livestock because of shortage of feed xxx.

ANNE WAKELY JACKSON

FROM THE ONDO BUSH

THE BOOK OF A SAVAGE

By Lobagola; illus. by Erick Berry. Alfred A. Knopf, 1930. $2.00. (Published August 8.)

Children, did you ever read a book of stories by a man who was born and raised among savages? I don't mean a white man; or the child of a white man who has gone to the savages' country for purposes of his own. I mean a real, live, born savage! Well, here is such a book. The author's full name is Bata Kindal Amgoza Ibn Lobagola; and he was born in the Onond bush in West Africa. Mr. Lobagola is not a savage now, though. He is an educated man. In another book he has told the story of his life, which I am sure we should all like to read; for life in the Onond bush is very, very different from any life we have ever tried or known.

In his introduction to these tales the author says: "The tales in the Onond bush in West Africa are told in song. Very often the story-teller relates a story to the whole village circle. Then everyone present, as he does this, sentence by sentence, repeats aloud every word that he hears. That is the way the stories are preserved, and handed down from generation to generation; you see, they are not written down in books; for the bushmen cannot write. But they are stored in the memories of the listeners, some of whom in turn become story-tellers themselves. In a country where there are no newspapers or magazines, no books, no moving pictures, and no theatres, there must be something to take their place; some source of entertainment for the people. Story-telling is what takes the place of all those things.

"When the fires are lit in the village at night to keep out wild beasts and snakes, and when everyone sits, the mothers and sometimes even the fathers, tell stories to all who happen to be in their particular home-compounds." African children do not readily forget the stories they hear. "They use them day after day in their games, when they recite them to children here and there. 'London Bridge Is Falling Down,' which is really an old story."

While Mr. Lobagola does not remember every word of every story that he heard his mother tell around the evening fire, he does remember the spirit and substance of them. And so the stories he has put into this book are precisely the same in nature as the ones he heard in childhood, years ago in his home-compound in the African bush. Only he tells them in English, because we couldn't understand them if they were in his native tongue. May his people do not have a written language at all.

These African tales are full of the folk wisdom that we find in practically every primitive or savage race. There is something wise and valuable to remember in each one. We must not think that there are all the wisdom of the world. There is always something of value to be learned, no matter where we may go to in the wide world. Once Mr. Lobagola and his faithful followers were lost in the Onond bush; and while the former was very ill with fever, the latter, Enkiki, told him enough stories to fill two books like this one. In his efforts to comfort the half-delirious boy, some day Mr. Lobagola hopes to write those stories out that Enkiki told him. There are twenty-two tales in this collection. The village story-teller told one each night as the villagers crowded around the evening fire. Most of them are about animals, though the very last one is about a Witch Woman.

"Who was the village story-teller who sat by the fire in our village in the Onond bush, in the unvisited part of West Africa? The author answers that question thus: 'No one knew. Even he did not know. He was an old, wrinkled man, too old and too feeble to go on the hunt or the war trail. He liked everyone, and everyone liked him. He made and shaped everything that was needed. He spoke kindly to men, to children, and to women. He gave help and advice to everyone.' This old man had been carried off from his native bush, along with his parents, when he was a small boy. Raiders had come into the bush, hunting for black men to carry off as slaves. So in his time, this old man had wandered far and wide, even to the great sea, 'the Water-that-has-no-end.' He had learned many languages, lived in many places, married, had children, seen good and bad fortune. But at last, when very old and wrinkled, he had somehow found his way back to his native Onond bush. He had scars all over his body, made by spears and arrows, and by the claws and teeth of wild beasts. He enjoyed telling the tales; and the people loved to listen. They showed him great respect, and were silent as he raised his hand and said he would tell a story. Wouldn't you like to peep at such a circle of dusky listeners some night when the story-teller is deep in a tale, perhaps acting the story out as he tells it? Erick Berry, who has lived much in Africa and knows the country and the natives, has made pictures for this book that make the tales more real to us. She writes books herself, as well as draws pictures; and her husband, Herbert Best, has written the best and most thrilling African story for children I've ever read. It is called 'Garram the Hunter.'

The first story in this book is about 'The Big Hippo Who Was Too Noisy and Clumsy'; and the point of the tale is that 'One who would learn how to be skillful must first learn how not to be clumsy and careless.' On the second night, the old man told the eager listeners about 'The Monkey Whose Tail Was Not Caught.' A leopard was hunting for something to eat; or he should have been hunting. But he felt lazy and decided that he would try to win a supper by his wits instead of working for it. So he tried to fool a monkey who was up in a tree. He pretended that he couldn't walk because he had a thorn in his foot; and begged the Monkey to come down and pull it out, promising to be a friend of the Monkey's people forever after. The Monkey was too clever for him, though, and told him he couldn't come down because his tail was caught in between two branches. The Leopard thought then that all he had to do was to leap into the tree and catch the Monkey. Do you think he caught him? Well, just remember: 'When you try to cheat others, look out that you don't get cheated yourself.'

Then there are: 'The Gazelle Who Took Care of Lion Cubs'; 'The Man Who Thought He Was Foolish'; 'The Black Leopard Who Lost the Man in the Tree'; 'The Wandering Monkey'; 'The Sick Leopard and the Friendly Tree-cat'; and fourteen more besides. Before each tale begins, the author describes how the people are sitting around the fire, and what they are talking about; and how the children are trying to squeeze in between the grown people so they can hear. I am sure you will like these 'Folk Tales of a Savage.'

EXCITEMENT KEEN AT MARION WHERE TWO WERE LYNCHED

Two Companies Troops on Way to Scene; Local Officers on Guard

MARION, Ind., Aug. 8.—(Special to the Journal.)—Intense excitement over last night's mob violence which resulted in the lynching of two negroes, still prevailed in Marion tonight. As a safeguard, city, county and state police were on duty and two companies of the Indiana National guard were enroute here. Unrest still prevailed the atmosphere tonight and fear was manifest in many quarters of either a new outbreak or reprisals for the hanging of Thomas Shipp and Abe Smith last night on the lawn of the Grant county court house. The latter fear was expressed outwardly today when Dr. W. T. Bailey, and the Rev. William Oglesby, state leaders of the national association for the advancement of colored people, appealed to Mayor Jack Edwards for state troops to guard lives and property. News that the state troops were expected soon from Camp Knox, Ky., where they are in training, helped to bring the tension to a high pitch. Meanwhile, an investigation of last month's violence in which a mob of several thousand people stormed the county jail, smashed the doors and dragged their two victims to their deaths, was being planned at a conference between Prosecutor Harley F. Hardin and Earl Stuart and Merl M. Wall, deputy attorneys general.

"In any event," Mr. Hoover said, "the federal government areas we should lay the foundation for effective local and state organizations. The object of which is to prevent suffering amongst farm families deprived of support and to prevent the sacrifice of live stock more than is necessary." The number of states affected were said to be 1,000,000 families, possessing approximately 2,250,000 horses and mules, 6,000,000 cattle and 12,000,000 hogs and sheep, or about 12 per cent of the nation's farm animals. Individual farmers were said to be affected differently, and the actual number of states affected, therefore, would be much less than the gross figures mentioned.

PUBLISH ARTICLE ON BABY MIX-UP

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—(Special to the Journal.)—A four column statement written by the Englewood hospital and discussing various phases of the Bamberger-Watkins baby mixup case, will be published in the August 15 issue of Hospital Management, a journal devoted to hospital administration it was announced tonight. In concluding the article states: "It is the position of the Englewood hospital that the Watkins baby was delivered to the Watkins parents and that the Bamberger baby was delivered to the Bamberger parents. The evidence supporting this conclusion is as follows: First, that the adhesive tape identifying each baby was attached to each baby promptly after its birth and remained upon the babies until after they left the hospital; second, that the weight of the Watkins baby taken five days after it left the hospital corresponded with its record of daily weights taken while it was in the hospital; and third, that the mother seemed satisfied on leaving that at all times during their stay in the hospital they nursed the same baby as the one that they took home from the hospital and fourth, that the parents of the Bamberger baby believe they have the right baby, have had it baptized as theirs and refuse to give it up."

City and county authorities yesterday spent the day investigating a case here which now has the appearance of being one of the most baffling problems with which they have ever been confronted. Jacksonville police, Dr. J. H. Spencer, county health officer, and Coroner C. S. Young have joined in an effort to determine the circumstances surrounding the finding of parts of a human body buried in the Jacksonville high school athletic field. Authorities are endeavoring to ascertain by whom parts of the brain and the viscera of a human being were placed on the athletic field about midnight Thursday night, to whom the organs belong and whether they were taken from a man or woman. Parts of the brain, the medulla oblongata, both lungs, the heart, the two kidneys, the spleen, the liver, the stomach and most of the intestines, but there was nothing to indicate the sex of the person. The organs had been taken from a body from which life had been extinct but a few hours. When it was determined that the body was a man, then questioned Mr. Williams and Mr. Smith concerning the burial of the organs. Neither of the young people noticed the car drive onto the field, their first knowledge of a person's presence there coming when the lights of the automobile were turned on. Since the night was lighted by the moon they could see the man and from sounds emanating from the field decided that he must have been a few minutes later when he left the field and passed within a few feet of the North West street. With lights burning they saw that he was driving a Chevrolet sedan of late model, but were not close enough to see the man's features.

THE ATHLETIC FIELD

The athletic field lies north of West Independence avenue, and is bounded by North and West streets. Entrance to the field is made at the corner of Independence and West streets. The Bailey residence is situated at the corner of Case and Independence avenues, "being Case. When the driver of the Chevrolet had completed his grisly deed he drove westward on Independence avenue and westward, passing within a short distance of the Bailey home. The hole where the organs were buried is located about 230 feet north of the south boundary and sixty feet from the north boundary. It was about 12 inches deep and approximately 12 inches in diameter.

CHIEF OF POLICE FRANK KILGORE

Chief of Police Frank Kilgore yesterday conducted an investigation here but could find no reports of missing persons or any irregularities in deaths. It is his opinion that the organs were brought here from some place outside of Jacksonville. Dr. Spencer and Officer McGinnis went to the field about six o'clock and after a brief search saw that the hole contained parts of a body either of animal or man. They notified Dr. Spencer and he and Officer McGinnis went to the school field and returned to the police station with portions of the body. Dr. H. H. Newcomb was then called and the two physicians.
